

2012: The start of a golden age?

Could the end of the Mayan calendar be a time for your soul's purpose to be revealed? Nicolya Christi examines the case for an upcoming consciousness evolution and the start of a golden age for humanity...

This year and 2012 have the potential to be the most critical in the history of humanity. As the all-important date of 21st December 2012 approaches, we feel the compulsion to understand just what it is we can contribute to help ensure the crossing of the threshold into what has become known as 'The Great Shift of Ages'. Many are now willing to commit themselves, heart and soul, and accelerate their own conscious evolution in order to help other individuals and humanity as a whole to 'wake up' during these crucial couple of years.

It is essential now that we focus on the evolution of our own consciousness, as well as that of the collective. This is what must take precedence in our hearts, our minds and our lives, if we are to help with the immense global changes humanity now faces. These sweeping changes, prophesied by our ancient wise elders, including the Maya, are vital for world peace and a sustainable future, not just for ourselves, but also for the generations to come.

The Maya

The ancient Maya were interested in the period of time surrounding 21st December 2012, as well as that specific day. They foretold how the time beginning from the 1999 total Eclipse of the Sun, to the 21st December 2012 would be of tremendous significance for humanity and ultimately the Earth. The Maya spoke of how the remaining 26 Solstices from the time of the 1999 total Eclipse of the Sun, to the 21st December 2012 would be of critical importance and how by the end of this thirteen-year period humanity would need to have evolved to a high enough level of consciousness, in order to manifest what they foretold to be an emerging Golden Age.

Never before in the history of humankind has your contribution to the world been more needed. Never before in our history could your personal contribution make the difference between humanity stepping onto a new path of peace and sustainability, a path of light, or remaining on the existing dark path of destruction, as we step over the threshold of 2012.

To put it simply, there are two options ahead of us, as predicted by ancient civilizations. One option is to continue on the current dysfunctional path that ultimately leads to breakdown. The second is to step onto a new path that will lead us to a New Earth and a new way forward that ensures not only the survival, but the flourishing of the Earth and all life. Which of these two paths do you choose? The path of love, light, consciousness, truth, liberation, unity and transformation? Or the other, a path of fear, suffering, darkness, unconsciousness, manipulation, conditioning and duality? The choice is ours. We can either choose the path of love or the path of fear. Each individual decision is now critical to the whole outcome.

My new book, 2012: A Clarion Call, is a call to those who are aware of the coming 2012 threshold, as well as those who are not. This is a call to ALL, regardless of age, nationality, religious, spiritual, philosophical or educational background.

Enough of us are now needed to unify in order to raise the overall human and planetary vibration sufficiently to ensure that humanity takes the next evolutionary step. If we are unable to raise personal and planetary consciousness to the required frequency, we may not succeed in crossing the 2012 threshold into what the Maya, Tibetans and Q'ero, (the modern day Inca), refer to as 'A Golden Age of Peace'. We are being supported in this quest by legions of multi-dimensional beings who over-light the Earth plane. They are urging us to become vigilant and prepare to re-define our individual roles in these next few years, so that we may play our part in helping to birth a New World consciousness.

Our individual and collective task, supported by these great luminous beings of light in the higher dimensions, is to raise the collective vibration of humanity and assist in the coming transition from a 3rd to 5th dimensional consciousness. We need to unite and dedicate ourselves to work for the highest good of the collective. This is essential if we are to ensure birthing a new world paradigm.

To gain some perspective on the enormity and meaning of the times we live in, take a look at the following astronomical and astrological events and the cosmological theories that have been put forward:

The Western astrological system speaks of the Shifts of Ages, when one great astrological age moves into another. We are currently moving from the Age of Pisces into the Age of Aquarius.

It is believed that we are now at the completion point of a multimillion year circular orbit of our Galaxy around the great central Sun at the centre. (One orbit of the Galaxy takes 225–250 million years; it is believed to have completed between 20–25 orbits since it first formed.) Our Galaxy moves through space in the form of continuous connecting circles, like a great Cosmic spiral. As it completes this multimillion-year orbit, our Galaxy is connecting diagonally to the next ring in the Cosmic spiral. When this happens, all of the planets, solar systems, and their inhabitants simultaneously take an initiatory step into a new evolutionary cycle.

We are at the end of a 26,000-year cycle of Earth, Sun, and Galactic Plane (the plane in which the majority of a disk-shaped Galaxy's mass lies). From our perspective on Earth, the December Solstice Sun moves across the Galactic Plane—an event that occurs once every 26,000 years—the result of which is to attune consciousness to higher frequencies (imagine shifting focus from lower to higher chakras).

We are in the last two years of a 5,125-year Mayan creation cycle. The winter solstice of 1998 was the midway point of the 36-year Galactic alignment process. Because the Sun is so large (about half a degree wide), it will not complete its journey across the Galactic Equator until 2016. This process is predicted to induce extraordinary transformations in consciousness of humans.

The coming end date of December 21, 2012, is written as 13.0.0.0 in Mayan Long Count notation. It is the end of the current era and the start of the next era of the Long Count calendar. The start of the current era in 3114 BCE is also written as 13.0.0.0. In Maya time philosophy, the end is also the beginning of the next cycle, though some people refer to 22 December 2012 as the first day of the next cycle, because it is written as 0.0.0.0.1.

On December 21, 2012, Jupiter, Pluto, and Saturn will be involved in an astrological formation known as a Yod (Finger of God). This translates to a higher vision (Jupiter) being projected out onto the physical plane (Saturn) and permeating Spiritual Will (Pluto). It allows us an opportunity to align our Spiritual and Physical Will, and wholly supports us in the manifestation of a higher vision, while at the same time letting go of the old (Jupiter retrograde). This ties into the completion process suggested by the events of 21 December 2012.

2012 marks the completion of a profoundly important phase of global healing that accelerated in 1999 with the total solar eclipse. The Maya describe this period of 13 years as "the Quickening".

Each year the December Solstice Sun aligns with the equator midline of the Milky Way. To gain a perspective on this, imagine the Earth's equator, which forms the division between the northern and southern hemispheres. Astronomically, the winter Solstice Sun has been pointing into the southern galactic hemisphere for 13,000 years. As we approach perfect alignment with the Galactic Equator, a 36 year process will conclude, at which point the winter Solstice Sun will have been reoriented to point to the northern galactic hemisphere.

The widest part of the Milky Way is known as the "dark rift", which corresponds to the direction of the centre of the Galaxy. John Major Jenkins, researcher of Mayan cosmology and philosophy, and author of Maya Cosmogenesis 2012 and The 2012 Story, says that as the 2012 winter Solstice Sun aligns with the dark rift and the Solstice Meridian then passes to the other side of the centre of the Galactic Equator, this will create a field effect energy reversal. As we resonate with the field sourced from the Galactic Centre, we will be affected by this changing orientation.

The end of the Mayan Long Count calendar will culminate in a pole shift in our collective consciousness.

The final activations of 2012 are:

On June 6, 2012, Venus will transit the Sun, that is, it will travel between the Sun and the Earth. Venus transits come in pairs every eight years. The first of the current Venus transits occurred on June 8, 2004, and the next occurs on June 6, 2012, after which it will not occur again until 2117. Ancient calendar scholars tell us that the 2012 transit will be a rare and very special conjunction of the Sun and Venus; it is said that a new world consciousness will be born during it. It is believed that the Maya understood that a Venus transit acted like a "circuit breaker", switching off the sunspot cycle and impacting the Sun, Moon, Earth, and Venus system. Every planet has its own unique frequency or rate of vibration; since ancient times, Venus has been connected with divine, unconditional love. During a transit, the Sun's rays amplify and direct the frequency of Venus toward the Earth, bathing it in the energies of Venus for seven hours.

The Maya believed that we would reach a point at which we could herald a golden new age or destroy ourselves: it is up to us to determine which way we will go.

• Venus is getting closer to aligning with the Pleiades and will conjunct Alcyone, the star of the Pleiades, on April 3, 2012. Some believe that Alcyone now holds Earth's Akashic Records (information of our past, present, and future lives).

• On May 20, 2012, there will be a rare Solar Eclipse in which the Sun and Moon conjunct the Pleiades.

• A second Solar Eclipse on November 13, 2012, will occur close to the Serpens, the serpent held by Ophiuchus, found in the thirteenth constellation, situated between Scorpio and Sagittarius. Ophiuchus, in Greek mythology, is also known as the shaman/serpent healer.

The Mayan Calendar end date is 21st December 2012. Nobody knows what is to unfold post 2012, not even the Maya, Hopi or the indigenous elders of our time. All that they can tell us is that the ending of this cycle is critical in terms of what unfolds from this point on. Prophecy does not say what is going to happen beyond the 2012 date. Our fate and the Earth's destiny is in our hands.

Our destiny in our hands

Now is the time to take the reins of our human and planetary destiny. The moment has come for us to be in the driving seat, directing the course of our future, instead of being taken for a ride by those whom we have allowed to take control of our destination. The decision makers who hold power in society and on a global scale need to gently and non-violently be led away from the path of destruction they have us set upon. We need to establish a new way forward, one that serves the higher good of all. It is critical that we listen to, take heed and act upon the wisdom of ancient prophecies that speak of these profoundly transformative times.

It is now imperative that we understand the full scale of what lies ahead. We cannot dismiss apocalyptic prophecies as sensationalism. We do so at our peril. To be informed of all potential eventualities is a pre-requisite for steering ourselves away from the current path of destruction and into a new world paradigm. How will we make a successful transition into a balanced new world if we sit back waiting to see what will unfold? Or leave it to other people to ensure a successful transition into a new and positive era? Each day, as we approach 2012, we are making choices to remain in darkness or move into the light. Make no mistake, we cannot remain inactive and hope that these predictions of catastrophe will not occur.

For every prophecy that speaks of transition and transformation there is one that talks of destruction and apocalypse. We cannot simply choose to align with the prophecy that requires the least action from us, or accept the negative prophecies as a given. It is irresponsible on our parts to remain uninformed, or to be informed and then not to take action or remain unconcerned or to feel helpless about a foretold negative outcome. To believe there is nothing that can be done will lead us to the ultimate destruction. We must become empowered, each and every one of us. We must take drastic and immediate action if we are to avoid the catastrophes that prophecies, including those of Nostradamus, warn of. Complacency is our greatest stumbling block and we cannot afford to be lazy or ignorant as our attitude and actions will determine either a positive or negative outcome. Our choices determine the future of humanity. What we individually decide now will have far reaching repercussions for the collective. Prophecies that foretell of a Golden Millennium speak of a potential outcome, one to be manifested by taking action, reclaiming our power, waking up and raising our consciousness thus altering the collective vibration.

Our compliance with and acceptance of the current world system reduces us to mere cogs in a machine, driven by the agendas of global business structures, the media, government, consumer and industrial powers. Our passive acceptance is what keeps this machine going. We need to recognize that we support the continuation of a dysfunctional global system when we sit back and accept the mass marketing genius that keeps us consciously numb and asleep, or expect a better future to manifest of its own accord, when we believe that a handful of global activists can literally 'save the world'. We must each become global activists. An architect can hand you the design and building plans for a beautiful house that could be yours if you were willing to build it. However without your actioning the plan, the house will not build itself.

We need to hold a balanced perspective on all prophecies. Will we experience an era of peace or the destruction of the Earth? Both are possible outcomes. We have a collective and individual human responsibility to contribute if we are to manifest a prophecy that foretells of 'a thousand years of peace'.

A blank slate

From 2013, for the first time in human history we find ourselves without prophecy which offers details, other than a transition into a 'golden age'. In effect, we have a blank slate upon which to write a new story for humanity. The year 2013 invites us to live in the Now, with what is and to create our future in every moment. However, we need to make possible the potential of 2013 by ensuring a successful transition over the 2012 threshold.

Ancient prophecies do not extend past 2012 other than to suggest to humanity that we have an opportunity to live in an era of great peace and harmony. Why do you imagine that might be? Could it be that those ancient wise ones simply did not know if we would rise or fall at the time of the Great Shift of Ages? Much of ancient prophecy speaks of a transformation of human consciousness. The old-world paradigm 'victim' mentality has convinced us that 'St Happens'. However, the new world mantra is 'Shift Happens' and it most certainly will if we actively engage in the coming transition. We must believe that by having a positive intent, we can manifest the promising outcome of a harmonious new world paradigm. There is an increasing urgency for us to identify and transcend what stands between us and our contribution to the co-creation of a peaceful and sustainable world. The full expression of our contribution is critical as the clock ticks towards 2012.

A part of us knows, and has always known, that beyond our personal world lies a greater purpose that our soul recognizes as our worldly mission. We each have incarnated with a soul mission, although most people never remember it, as they are caught in dysfunctional patterns that often originate from difficult and painful early childhood experiences and unresolved karma. However, many of us are beginning to remember, due to the various spiritual, psychotherapeutic and healing self-explorations we have undertaken.

If we use the analogy of an onion, many of us have spent years committed to peeling back the layers to re-encounter the Core Self, the True Self that had been buried under decades of history and conditioning. It is when we finally reach this Core Self that we fully remember ourselves.

For those of you who believe you are too wounded, too angry, too sad, are not worthy, intelligent or spiritual enough to align with your worldly purpose, recognize that this is a myth you have been steeped in, for too long. We live in times that invite us to let go of the past, in a way that is not about repression, splitting off or denial, but is about openness, integration and balance. You can choose to release painful memories and experiences with the support of the incredible and effective healing tools that the times we live in afford us.

We are living in a high energy time wave that gifts us with many therapeutic processes which support us in letting go of the past and stepping into the new. Why hold onto pain when you can live in joy? It is as simple as a matter of choice – love or fear? light or dark? It is up to you what life experience you choose, you always have a choice. Why hide in the shadows of your wounded self when you can step into the radiant light of your higher self? We tend to hold fears, hurts and resistances close to us like semi-precious jewels, afraid to let them go because we have built a whole identity and character around them. We have forgotten who we truly are. We have allowed ourselves to remain victims. However, if we seek to reclaim our authentic selves and refuse to let the past dictate our present and future lives, we will go from strength to strength and our lives will be forever transformed.

Letting go of the old and daring to step into the new will allow you to experience the beauty of your soul and perhaps, for the first time in this life, allow you to come to know what peace and fulfilment truly are.

Choose love over fear

You can let go of the old. Everything that unfolds in the next few years will support you in doing so. As the old world dies and gives way to the new, so too will our sad and painful memories, which belong in the old paradigm built upon fear. The New World is built upon love. You can choose love right now. Fear or Love? The choice is yours.

You do not need to be Gandhi, Mother Teresa or the Dalai Lama to leave your mark on this world. You need only an open heart and a willingness to let go of all that has gone before that may have caused sadness and pain. Step into a new role, a new you, a new life that will turn your whole world around and surround you with love, as you commit to a new way. Choose to let it all go now. Forgive and forget. Understand how those you perceive have hurt you, were themselves hurt by others. Recognize that at a soul level, you chose the circumstances of your life in order to learn, heal and evolve.

The origins of the wounds we carry are from lifetimes. We incarnate with these wounds and, at a soul level, choose to encounter those whose actions catalyse us to resolve and heal

Each living body, be it human, animal, insect, tree, flower, or star, planet or galaxy, has a unique frequency that is measurable. This frequency reflects the consciousness of the living body that it surrounds. In human beings our consciousness determines the rate at which our energy vibrates (what we call our frequency).

The Earth and humanity are currently going through what is termed an 'ascension' process. This is in response to an unprecedented influx of Galactic frequencies infiltrating the Earth's energy field/light-body and permeating that of her inhabitants. As humans we feel these influxes at a physical level as our personal frequencies respond and attempt to synchronize with these incoming waves of energy from the Galaxy and Cosmos.

Our physical responses to these incoming Galactic energies are dependent upon our degree of consciousness. The more conscious or pure of heart and mind we are, the higher we vibrate. The lower our frequency, the less 'awake', conscious and clear we are.

The relationship we have with the Earth reflects the relationship we have with ourselves. How we treat ourselves and each other emotionally, mentally and physically also has an impact on the Earth. We need only to look around us to understand the current state of human consciousness. There are places of extraordinary beauty on the Earth and there are places that have been damaged, distorted and destroyed. When we look at the overall state of the Earth, we are looking into a mirror. There are places of immense beauty within each one of us and there are also places of dysfunction and distortion in most, which we project into the world. For the Earth to heal, we must heal. The Earth's frequency is accelerating and as it does so this triggers a transmutation process, especially in the human body. Everything we understand about ourselves and our planet is changing.

Nicolya Christi is an Evolutionist, author and an advocate for peace whose work focuses on humanity's next evolutionary stage of consciousness. Nicolya is the founder of WorldShift Movement, inspired by Ervin Laszlo, and is a co-initiator of WorldShift 2012. She is a spiritual guide and facilitates large 'Gatherings' in which she (and her team), work with high-dimensional spiritual beings (who she refers to as The Luminous Ones), to help accelerate the human evolutionary process. At these events, she works with dialogue, individual and group process and journeywork, attunements and powerful 'transmissions' to catalyse an acceleration of consciousness and an elevation of personal frequency. In certain individuals, this process can activate the natural evolutionary transformation from homo-sapiens to homo-luminous.

The Galaxy's energies affect us on this planet too.

our soul wounding. From the soul's perspective, the perpetrators of our suffering are those with whom we have important soul contracts, the purpose of which are to remind us of what we need to learn about ourselves, what karma we have incarnated with to resolve. Our perpetrators are our allies, not our enemies and they serve our soul's growth and healing.

A Clarion Call

2012: A Clarion Call urges those of us who know we have a role to fulfil, yet feel this to be just out of reach, to step forward. It also acts to remind those of us who may have forgotten the 'more than' that we are. This call specifically invites you to take a leap of faith and find the courage to move beyond the small self, fully embracing the incredible being you truly are.

This is a Clarion Call to those who recognise the importance of the times we live in and the responsibility that we each carry to overcome that which inhibits us so we can unite for a greater cause. This is a call to those who feel ready to embrace the gifts they have to offer to humanity and the planet, and who recognise that they have chosen to incarnate with a specific contribution during these incredible times. It is also a call to those who may not remember who they truly are and an important part of the reason that they have chosen to be here in this critical period in human history. It is a wake up call to all.

Humanity has been afflicted with an all pervading amnesia created over a period of thousands of years, as a result of living at a lower level of consciousness. What has long been forgotten is the true meaning our lives have, and what we have to offer to others and to the world. Our unique gifts and talents can contribute to the collective journey of our global family in these momentous times. As we remember our unique contribution and the gift we have brought for humanity, we feel more alive and inspired as we help each other create a better world.

The higher realms are calling for us to wake up and remember. To remember what we volunteered to contribute. It is so easy to be distracted, side-tracked and to put off to tomorrow what can be done today. We must recognize when we do this and ask ourselves, 'How does it serve us to do so?' How does it serve you to focus your attention elsewhere? In what way does it benefit you to block your path to a life that feels alive with meaning and purpose? We were each born to shine. Your contribution to the world will bring you many gifts and a deeper level of fulfilment.

Time is of the essence and this is an eleventh hour Clarion Call to those who are prepared to respond. By committing to our roles, uniting with like-minds to acknowledge the momentous Earth changes and transformation of human consciousness due to be catalysed in 2012, we will truly know how it feels to experience Oneness, as we shift from duality to unity consciousness with All That Is.

Preparation for and commitment to our new roles is now essential. We have less than two years remaining before the prophesied Shift of Ages. The important question is: 'Will we reach the great destiny that awaits us?' The answer to this is down to us, both individually and collectively. It is our human and spiritual responsibility to do everything we can now to assist in raising the planetary vibration and our collective consciousness.

Finally...

The following was channelled to me during the writing of 2012: A Clarion Call. I offer it here, along with an invitation for you to embody, embrace and live the true magnificence of who you really are, and in so doing, manifest all prophecy that speaks of a new 'Golden Age', so that a 'Thousand Years of Peace' may emerge in our own lifetimes.

Dedication Pledge

"On this day, I pledge myself in service to the highest good of humanity and the Earth. With my life, my heart and soul, I shall do my best to ensure that the gift of my presence here on Earth in these times is dedicated to supporting the Great Transition of 2012. May the gift of my life prove to be an asset for my earthly brothers and sisters, the four legged, two legged, finned, furred, winged ones and insects and for all animate and inanimate energy forms here on the earth. May it ever be so."
